O'RYAN REPORTED PRISON BRUTALITY; PAPER WAS 'LOST'

General Long Ago Asked "Vigorous Action" on Complaint of 27th Men.

It became known to-day that the special House Committee investigation in Washington of alleged brutality and inhumanity to military prisoners and especially to National Guardsmen and National Army men by regular army officials and guards in Paris will now include charges in a missing report made by officers of the 27th Division, which consisted of New York Guardsmen.

Incidentally the House Committee will try to ascertain what became of the original report, which was sent with affidavits to the Adjutant General of the A. E. F. in Paris, whence it was supposed to have gone through the usual channels to the General Staff in Washington.

The report was made by Lieut. Col. J. Leslie Kincaid, formerly Judge Advocate of the 27th Division, and Lieut. Col. J. Mayhew Wainwright, Division Inspector, to Major Gen. O'Ryan, who transmitted it to the A. E. F. Adjutant General about Dec. 26 last. When members of the 27th told of the alleged brutalities on their return to New York, the General Staff at Washington denied it had ever received the report. He now a copy has been sent to Secretary of War Baker by Col. Kincaid, with the suggestion that the original with the accompanying affidavits may be found in the files here or abroad.

In endorsing the report, Gen. O'Ryan stated that he had forwarded similar complaints three months earlier but had heard nothing, and suggested that vigorous action be taken. Col. Kincaid said to-day he was ready to go to Washington as a witness if needed, though all he could do would be to tell of the statements of non-commissioned officers and privates in his division.

SAMPLE OF SMOKE SENT TO HELP FIND IDEAL FIRE MASK

New York Packs It in Vacuum Bottles So Experts Can Work at Leisure.

A vacuum bottle filled with smoke from a three-alarm fire in a West 24th Street piano factory is on the way to the United States Bureau of Mines at Washington, the contribution of the New York Fire Department to research work out of which is expected to come a smoke-mask for the use of firemen everywhere in the United States and Canada.

The value of the mask is one of the lessons of the world war, but the difficulty confronting the international leaders of fire-fighters is that a mask which is "just the thing" for one kind of smoke is utterly without efficiency against smoke of another sort.

Fire chiefs and officials of the Bureau of Mines hope to hit upon the ideal mask, or maybe a pair of them, within the next six months. In the meantime smoke-filled vacuum bottles directed to Washington will be dropping into the mails all over North America. After that the smoke mask will be a regular appendage of engines, trucks and hose wagons and firemen will be able to "chimmy" up to the very heart of the nastiest of fires utterly indifferent to smoke clouds.

guards at the Bastille and Prison Farm No. 2. Some of the charges were as follows:

National Guardsmen were subjected to vile language by the guards and were told the 27th and 30th Divisions were no good. Prisoners were forced to drill in front of the muzzles of machine guns and automatic rifles. The prisons were overcrowded and insanitary. Conditions at Prison Farm No. 2 rivaled Siberian prison camps. Official decorations, treasured trinkets, and photographs were stolen and never returned.

regularly would be $13.49

A five-piece bag of genuine black pigskin with reinforced sewn-on corners, brass locks and clutches and double flat-side sewn edges. The interiors are leather-lined and have three divided pockets.

Size 16x12x8½ in.
Size 18x13x9 in.

In staging this event

as one of the big seven economy sales, we aim to satisfy those customers who were disappointed in their tardy efforts to take advantage of our previous sale of 1000 of these bags. At that time we thought 1000 bags enough to more than meet the demand. But we underestimated the appeal of genuine black pigskin at the price of inferior-grade leather and before the first day was over about three-fourths of the bags were sold. We stopped advertising and sent rush orders for more bags, but the manufacturer could not get them here in time. As a result, many of the customers who "put off" buying their bags till the second day were disappointed.

This time

we are taking no chances. We have doubled the number of bags. (Just think of what 2007 bags will hold.) But the prices remain the same. (We changed $9.94 to $8.87 to conform with the seven-idea.)

As in the case of the first sale, we were enabled to purchase these genuine black pigskin bags at a low price because of slight irregularities in the natural color of the skins, which in no way impair their wearing qualities. Our purchase means savings to you if you take advantage of the event!

No need to extol the wearing qualities of pigskin—they are generally conceded. When genuine pigskin is sold at a lower price than inferior grade leathers, in the face of the prevailing high prices of leather goods—the economy is apparent!

If you missed our first sale do not fail to attend this one. Substantial savings are yours if you do!

Sale begins to-morrow, 9 A. M.

Little Servants of the Home

As showing the growing appreciation of the "Little Edison Servants of the Home" we reproduce with pleasure this advertisement of John Wanamaker which recently appeared in the daily press of New York City

Permit Miss Electricity to do the family laundry

Monday is no longer a dreaded day of the week in the many households, because so many Wise Housekeepers permit Miss Electricity to rub their clothes, iron their household linen and other things, and a drying machine to eliminate all the endless taking things out in the yard, hanging them up, putting up and taking down clothes lines and all that sort of thing.

Really an efficient laundry such as one finds in the Wanamaker Housekeeping Exhibit is a joy to watch in operation.

The electric washer

works like a charm. To use the demonstrator's words, it "washes the thickest of blankets or the daintiest of laces without injuring them and without the slightest physical exertion."

Just put the clothes, water and soap in the clothes washer, turn on the electricity, and then rest of stand around a while or do something else while the clothes are being washed.

The wringer attachment is a marvelous thing, too, one "feeds" it the clothes, and doesn't become "a worn-out, tired wreck," turning a wringer by the hour—just press a button and off it goes, clothes get wrung out in no time.

The clothes dryer eliminates all the waste of time waiting for clothes to dry, and, of course, makes trips into the sun, wind, cold or heat unnecessary. This dryer bleaches clothes, too. Dryerettes, as they are called, cost according to size.

Ironing machines are great time savers. They aren't mangles at all, but run on the mangle principle. When one gets accustomed to working them, that is after trying it out a few times, one becomes very clever and manages to iron men's shirts, house dresses, children's dresses and all sorts of things. Imagine doing a tedious, back-breaking, hot, hard day's ironing in an hour or so.
